

Testimonial from Sponsor – Ernst & Young

"For our Pink October initiative, we chose to work with EMPOWERED because of their commitment to bringing cancer education, early detection screening programs and personalized support into the homes and communities of low income Malaysians. We believed that such individuals required our support the most, and we were impressed with the structure, credibility and spirit of volunteerism this organisation demonstrated in reaching out to them. At EY we are committed to building a better tomorrow, and through our corporate responsibility programmes we volunteer our skills and time to strengthening our communities. EMPOWERED's focus aligned well to our commitment, and we hope our contribution will help make a difference to those aided by this noble cause."
